Know Before You Go

Visitors who are TRICARE ineligible cannot use the military health system. If you have visitors arriving from the states, make sure they know this! If your parents, in-laws, or other non-TRICARE eligible family members or friends visit you this holiday season, they must ensure that their private health insurance policy covers them overseas. Medicare does not pay for care received overseas. If your visitors are covered under Medicare, ensure that they are aware of this rule and understand that there are no exceptions. In either of these cases, your visitors may wish to purchase temporary travel insurance. Remember: If your visitors need emergency care overseas, they will have to rely on their private insurance and the medical system of the host nation.

U.S. State Department Tips

The U.S. State Department provides many services for Americans traveling abroad. Here are a few of their recommendations.

- ① Before going abroad, learn what medical services your health insurance will cover overseas.
- ② If your health insurance policy provides coverage outside the United States, REMEMBER to carry both your insurance policy identity card as proof of such insurance and a claim form.
- ③ Although many health insurance companies will pay "customary and reasonable" hospital costs abroad, very few will pay for your medical evacuation back to the United States. Medical evacuation can easily cost $10,000 and up, depending on your location and medical condition.
- ④ THE SOCIAL SECURITY MEDICARE PROGRAM DOES NOT PROVIDE COVERAGE FOR HOSPITAL OR MEDICAL COSTS OUTSIDE THE U.S.A. Senior citizens may wish to contact the American Association of Retired Persons for information about foreign medical care coverage with Medicare supplement plans.

⑥ A traveler going abroad with any preexisting medical problems should carry a letter from the attending physician, describing the medical condition and any prescription medications, including the generic name of prescribed drugs. Any medications being carried overseas should be left in their original containers and be clearly labeled. Travelers should check with the foreign embassy of the country they are visiting to make sure any required medications are not considered to be illegal narcotics.

⑨ For detailed information on physicians abroad, the authoritative reference is The Official ABMS Directory of Board Certified Medical Specialists published for the American Board of Medical Specialists and its certifying member boards. This publication should be available in your local library. U.S. embassies and consulates abroad maintain lists of hospitals and physicians. Major credit card companies also can provide the names of local doctors and hospitals abroad.

⑩ Some countries require foreign visitors to have inoculations or medical tests before entering. Before traveling, check the latest entry requirements with the foreign embassy of the country to be visited.
